HISTORY

Name of Patient: Senior Class 1932.
Age: Between "Cocky" Walker and "Dad" Shamburger.
Residence: 12th and Clay Sts.
Marital State: 15 Married; 75 Single.
Occupation: Students.
Chief Complaint: Hope of Graduating.

Present Illness: The class dates its present illness back to sometime about the middle of September, 1928. It began one morning by having severe financial pain, beginning in the right inner coat pocket and ranging all the way back home to Dad's bank account, when they were called in to see our Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. McCauley. The illness continued throughout the year, or at least until June, 1929, but with different symptoms, mainly the whole ANATOMY and body CHEMISTRY seemed to be on the punk. The following three months the class was practically symptom free.

The original pain came back the following September, but was promptly followed by entirely different symptoms; the PHYSIOLOGY of the body was all wrong and the PATHOLOGY shown us was h—. Dr. Haag came along about that time and gave us some medication in the form of 606 different official and non-official drugs. Taking such a dose combined with the Pathology that was present it follows that atrophy developed in the class and for the unfortunates atresia of the doors of Medicine.

The following year the symptoms became more acute and Drs. Porter and Bigger were called into the case, along with several others, notably among these, Dr. Baughman. There were many consultations throughout the year. Dr. Bigger "cut" out a few. Dr. Baughman, because they did not have the proper "delivery," let a few fall. Dr. Porter decided several had a decompensation, so he "compensated" for this and the faintness went on to unconsciousness for some because of their Stokes-Adams syndrome. Some became "mixed up" with the law and Dr. Whitfield issued a "Habeas Corpus" to a few and said that they would come up again in September.

As before the symptoms subsided to some degree during the summer, but around the first of September, 1931, the pain came back much earlier than usual, about sixty per cent to be exact. Drs. Potter, Bigger, and Baughman were called in again, even before the medical school had started. Some soothing syrup was given and the class now has that same old complaint—gripping and fear of graduating. Red eyes and a peculiar red ring, called Mason's ring, appearing on the upper part of the nose is evident in a few.

Past History: The usual childhood education; have had exposures to Prep schools, Colleges and Universities. Some have had a different form of college many times.

G. I. History: Chronic, severe gastritis for past two years, due, it is thought, to taking Preventive Medicines.

Progress Notes: The class is getting along as well as can be expected at the present time. What the future holds no one can tell, but with the type of men that make up the Class of 1932 the prognosis seems good.

The Stork

(With apologies to Poe.)

*Once upon a midnight dreary,
While I wandered weak and weary,
Over many a lone and darksome
Hill and dale of Jackson Ward—
Wandered, stumbled, blindly roaming,
Suddenly there came a moaning,
As of someone loudly groaning,
Loudly calling on the Lord.
"Tis the number we've been hunting
Over all of Jackson Ward,"
Muttered I, "And praise the Lord."*

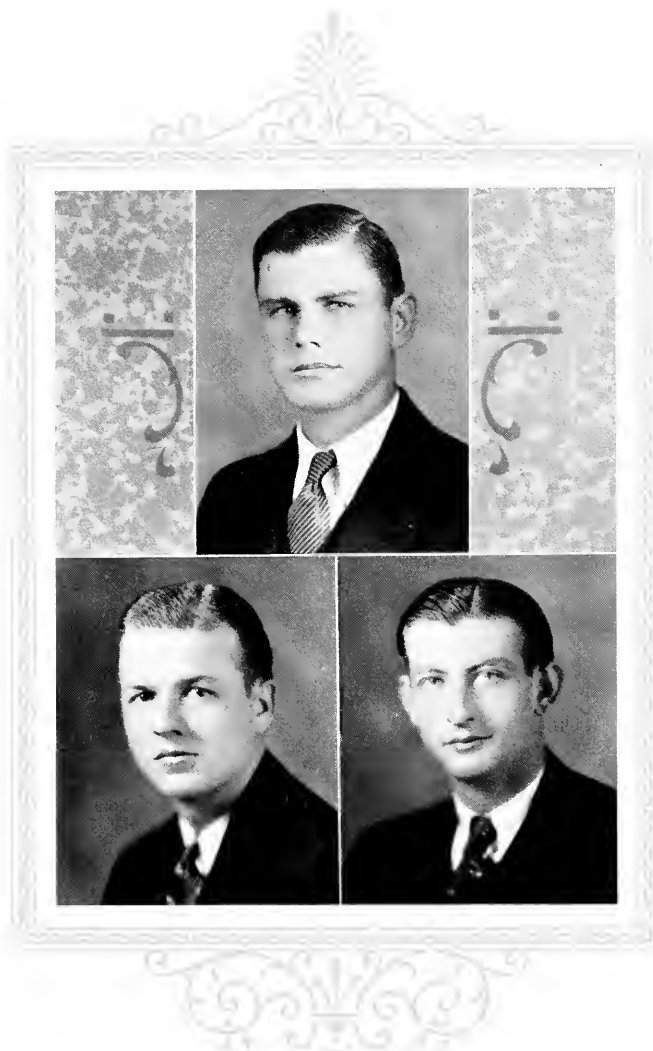

*Ah, distinctly I remember,
It was in the bleak December,
And the wind shook every timber
From the ceiling to the floor.
Dim and chill the starlight glittered
On the murky snow belittered
With the bones of fowl that flittered
Once behind that creaking door.
—Formerly in many hen coops,
Hencoops of the rich and poor,—
Pilfered thence forevermore.*

*Waiting not a moment longer,
Lest the moaning night wind stronger
Blowing, waft us past our number
Onto night's Cimmerian shore;
Brooked we no delay in rapping,
Entered straightway without tapping,
Found a maiden,—no, not napping,—
Nearly nude upon the floor.
And the granny, gruesome, withered,
Muttered, "Lou, bear down some more."
Quoth the maiden, "Nevermore."*

*Drop a little while the curtain
On a scene there's naught of mirth in,
While the maid shrieked, "I am certain,
Doctor dear, there must be four."
Why now with the groans decreasing,
Do the noises, never ceasing,
Linger with a note more pleasing,
But as lusty as before?
Dare we raise again the curtain,
Hear the maid, perspiring, sore,
Breathe again that "Nevermore."*

*Strangely she appears much smaller,
And a pinkish midnight brawler,
Kicking, crying, castor-oiler,
Raised much hell as said before.
"Maiden," said I as we parted,
"Tis a numerous tribe you've started,
Ere four season have departed
You'll have added just one more."
And the maid as if her soul in
That one word she did outpour,
Whispered hoarsely, "Nevermore."*

*But the maiden, ever slipping,
Still is sipping, still is sipping,
From the purple urn of Cupid
On youth's happy golden shore.
And her eyes have all the seeming
Of a dusky devil's dreaming,
And the lamplight on them beaming
Makes them sparkle as of yore.
And I know full well that tomorrow
She'll forget that NEVERMORE,
And call doctors,—evermore.*

THE JUNIOR CLASS IN MEDICINE

Junior Class in Medicine

HISTORY

The Class of '33 having completed its third year in the study of medicine would pause a moment to look upon the term just past before crossing the threshold into the Senior year.

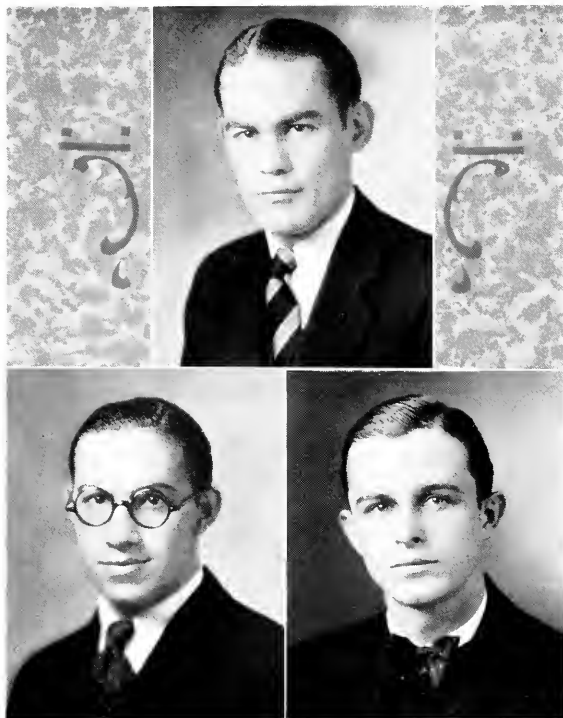

On the whole we have not been unlike the many classes that have passed before. It may be said that we followed the routine as mapped out for us. Our business was to learn. Coincident with our Junior Age came a new note of responsibility that was well reflected in the rather becoming maturity of mien of our ninety-two members. The realization that we were still on the ascent towards a working knowledge of things medical acted as a spur to greater effort.

The study of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, and allied subjects was made easier because of the able instruction in classroom and amphitheatre. Work in the Dispensary, Pine Camp, and City Home taught us that the patient was no longer a mere figure of speech, but an individual, frequently erratic and idiosyncratic, presenting a complexity of symptoms quite at variance with the tidy signs and symptoms of the text.

We were fortunate to have had lectures in the history of medicine. Had it not been a scheduled course, many of us would have gone on unacquainted with numerous interesting facts in the history of our profession. And if "the history of the human mind offers no parallel to the career of Aristotle," we can be consoled with the thought that Harvey was a plodder—and produced.

Therefore we feel that there will be of our number those who will accept the challenge to attempt to solve the yet unsolved problems that are faced in medicine. We are moving on, conscious of our short comings but high in hope. Success may come but we count it not success since ours is an advancing goal.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS IN MEDICINE

HISTORY

After summer vacations of varying degrees of pleasantness, the eighty members of the Sophomore Medical Class assembled in McGuire Hall ready and anxious to begin another year's work. The summer had been partly spent in getting laboratory experience or in trying to add to badly depleted bank accounts. The members, much sun-burned and almost all of them in fine condition, came back full of enthusiasm to tackle and conquer the new subjects.

Many returned with the determination to limit interests this new year and equal (or excel) the last year record of our "A" men. That lasted for about the first half of the first laboratory period, during which time we were uniformly studious, eyes and thoughts bent dutifully over 'scopes. But even before that period was over, this course of action had lost its appeal, for several of these men. The previous conversation limited to: "What does it look like?" and, "What page is that on?" and "Bill, come here and tell me what this is," was soon drowned by: "At the Byrd there's—," "Made the eighteen holes in—," "Takes only three hours to drive there," and "Cabaniss Hall—."

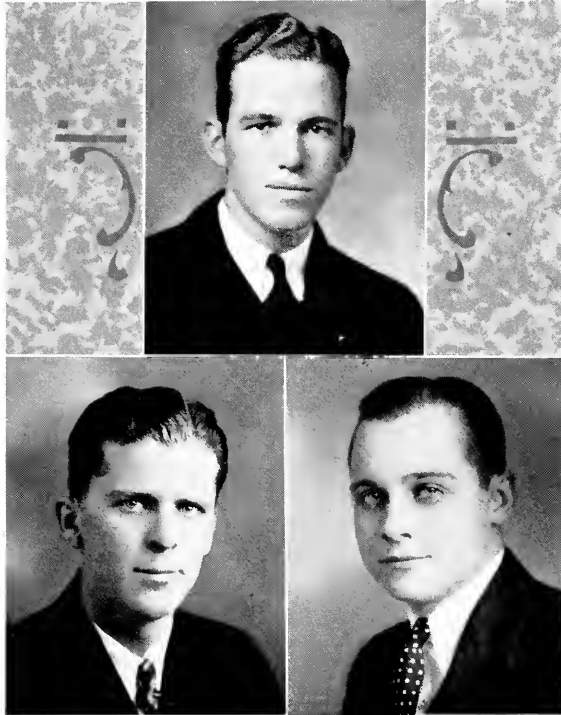

The long planned for Christmas Holidays came after a month of strenuous work and gave us a long period of much needed rest and recreation. From this we came back ready for the great struggle which ended the first semester. We eagerly entered the second semester which included clinical subjects. For some time we derived more pleasure than information from the brand new stethoscopes, which we, true to form, carried as conspicuously as possible. Easter brought a short but greatly appreciated vacation. Then we were racing down the home stretch, and then—the year was over.

The Sophomore Meds played a good part in the various school activities and were well represented in the social life of the school and city. Sixteen have at some time succumbed to the bonds of matrimony and, from all reports, several others are in grave danger.

We still go to Dr. Osterud with our problems, medical and otherwise. But we are more considerate of his time, now that he has another flock who need him more.

The work this year was plenty to keep us busy. In fact, much difficulty was experienced in juggling, for as soon as one subject was caught up with, we were far behind in another, and when that was caught up with we were behind with the first one, and maybe another besides! However, interest grew as more direct value to us, and greater relationships between the subjects was apparent. Sometimes we became tired of sacrificing and wondered if a medical education could be worth it, but usually the week-end cured this, and we agreed that "It's a great life if you don't weaken."

THE FRESHMAN CLASS IN MEDICINE

Freshman Class in Medicine

HISTORY

THE date of September fifteenth is one that will linger long in the mind of every freshman in the medical class of '35, for on that date we entered the portals of one of the foremost medical schools in the country. We were all to become doctors and can you blame us for our secret feeling of pride when Roy and Herman called us such on the very first day.

Our class consists of eighty-seven students from fifteen states and three foreign countries. There are three of the fairer sex among us. We represent forty-two different colleges, Colton included. It has been rumored that our class is the best prepared one for a long time, having several Masters and any number of Bachelors degrees. But with all of these helps our class finds the study of medicine hard in every sense of the word.

After matriculation we assembled in the amphitheater to be told what a select group we were. Good—hell we have got to be good, for out of several hundred applications ours were the ones accepted. And now we have something else to live up to in order that we do not let the acceptance committee find that they were mistaken in us.

Our first gift, appreciated greatly after buying a large interest in both the Spencer Lens Company and the College Supply Room, was a nice box of bones guaranteed not to be matched in any way, shape or form. Well, ever since we have been boning with harder works each day.

There could be a great deal said about our first day with the stiff, but due to the lack of space and my own appreciation for the finer feelings of my fellow classmates it seems best to touch this matter very lightly.

We have now adjusted ourselves to what lies ahead and are earnestly trying to give the very best that is in us. Our cry is, "Help us, Oh Jupiter," for without some supernatural help it is doubtful that we will ever master the contents of Gray's anatomy, the Philipino Zun Zag and the age of a forty-eight hour chick.

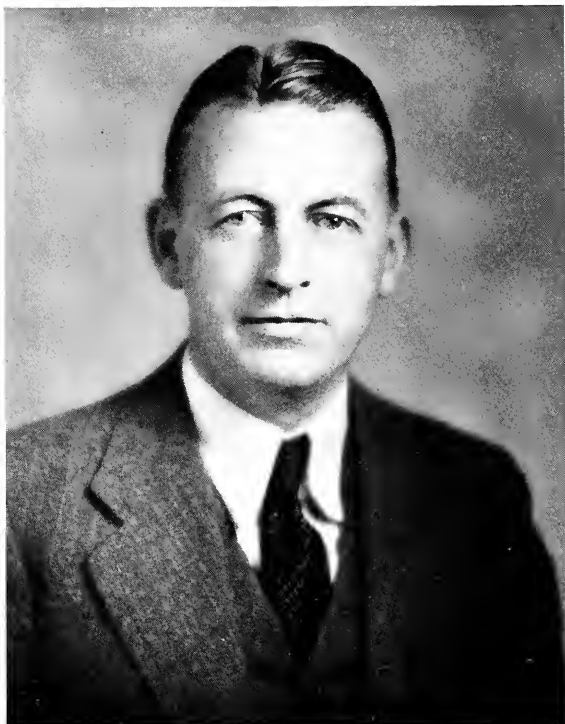

We hope when that far away date of graduation arrives there will be no vacancies among our ranks. Although the trials will be long and tedious with spirits low at times, the Class of '35 will come through still harkening to the call of the world for doctors.

HISTORY

*"Greatly begin! Though thou hast time
But for a line, be that sublime;
Not failure, but low aim is crime."*

The beginning in any profession is an appreciation of it. As we review in reflections the few years of our life which we have spent at the Medical College of Virginia, we feel that by sheer enthusiasm for our work we have truly made a beginning in the Profession of Dentistry, for we know that we have now an appreciation of that profession which surpasses by far that which was ours four years ago; and that is, we think, the paramount and most valuable result of our education. It would be impossible for one to acquire an infinitely vast store of knowledge in the brief time allotted one to complete his course; but it is not impossible to gain enough knowledge to practice Dentistry with a reasonable amount of skill, care, and judgment. During our four years we have gained valuable lessons in concentration, determination, perseverance, subordination, and system—lessons which are an invaluable asset to one who possesses them for the whole of his life, and an incalculable loss for one who has them not. Here we would sound our praise for our professors. They are wise who can instruct us and assist us in the business of daily virtuous living.

Our Freshman year was a year of readjustment in which we were undertaking something which required more zeal than we had ever before put into anything. We suffered all those pangs of inferiority which the want of knowledge always inflicts, but under the instruction of able professors we learned to make studying an agreeable task.

We might term our Sophomore year as a year of progression. We were advancing steadily towards our goal. At times we seemed to accomplish little and we made many blunders, but instruction does not prevent waste of time or mistakes; and mistakes themselves are often the best teachers of all.

Our Junior year was a year of anticipation. In another year we would have reached our Senior year, and have acquired that subtle prestige which is the traditional heritage of the Senior. The friendships which had been begun in our Freshman year had become mellow and prime. We found ourselves at last putting into practice the things that we had learned.

And then the year of realization! Seniors, at last, with a world behind us and a world before us!

The history of the class, as a class, ends with our graduation, but the history of the men who made the class is just beginning and will be written in the future in the hopes and aspirations which lie ahead of them, and in the record of their adversities and successes.

Junior Class in Dentistry

HISTORY

The "Singing Dents" donned their little new white infirmary coats and began on the third lap of the race. Fortunately, they are not peacocks. But let's go on with the story.

Some aspiring artist of the class portrayed our first patient: the patient says, "Oh, doctor, I'm so nervous." The Junior Dent tremblingly exclaims, "What the —— do you think I am?" But remember we are not always nervous. For example, some certain members attended a dance last spring. The stalwart driver forgot to take his driver's permit with him. But was he nervous? Of course he wasn't.

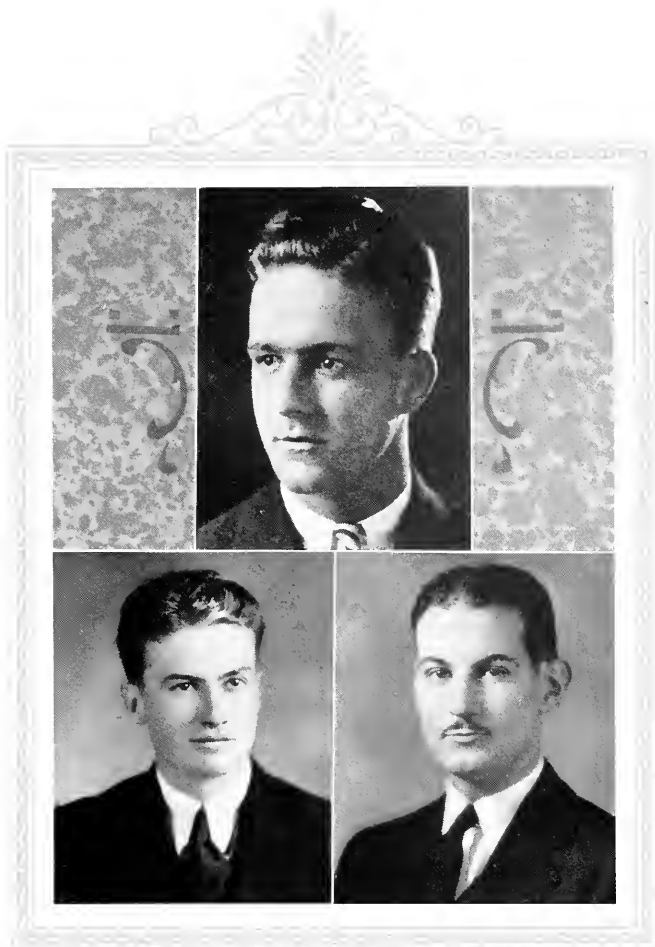

We are very fortunate in having some big game hunters in our class. One of these celebrities went out in the Buccal Mountains or some such place looking for 'coons, cavities or crowns. He almost amalgamated with Sirius or a lesser star. But let's not go on with the tale.

Fortunately this year the Royal Order of Snakes was disbanded. In its place was formed the Exalted Brotherhood in Pulpal Exposures. The charter membership was limited to only those who could cut off three or four pulpal horns and not know it. This article near the beginning reads something about the third lap of the race. The author hastens to inform the reader that the race mentioned was not a pulpal exposure contest.

Our record-holding 45-minute man has been succeeded by a certain fast technician. The latter claims that he made fifteen preparations for silicates, filled and polished the fillings in about thirty minutes. We wonder how the diagnostic department can keep him supplied with patients.

After considering that we have ground our patience and patients away, it seems that all the members of the class have had another year of pleasant association with each other. Let's hope we may continue.

HISTORY

LAST year. An old, old building but very new to us. New faces here and there. I wonder who he is? A professor? A student? Halls and rooms; uncommon names. Up and down we walked, carefree, not knowing the kind of work ahead. We found out it wasn't easy; not only that, but also different. The fight was on. Would we succeed? We did. That year . . . just Freshmen.

This year. Spare hours . . . Reverie. Histology, Anatomy, and as we think of it we smile with satisfaction: we smile and feel happy. Gee! We have a quiz tomorrow and our smoldering must be completed. The fight is on. Will we succeed? Success in the past; success in the future. Optimists . . . ! This year . . . just the Sophomores.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS IN DENTISTRY

Freshman Class in Dentistry

HISTORY

WE set out on our glorious adventure Tuesday, September fifteenth, to undertake to break a new trail in that wilderness of which we had heard so much about from others, some of which had succeeded in reaching their ultimate goal, the Practice of Dentistry, and from others, many of whom had attempted and failed.

With brave hearts and unflinching step, we braved each new danger only to discover another new hazard before us, another wall to scale or another ravine to jump. Wearied from the rigors of the trail, one or two of the party dropped out, finding the road more difficult than they had expected. And still the remaining members, undaunted by the lurking dangers around them and by their disappointments, carried on. Led by that battle scarred warrior and veteran, "Ting" MacRury, we crawled up the steep sides of the "Histology" mountains only to fall into the deep pits and ravines of Dental Anatomy, and bruised and bleeding, but yet bravely facing each new danger, we came upon the unknowns of Chemistry, in whose hidden and secret passageways we cooperated very successfully. During the entire trip we were harassed by swarms of insects which would fly and buzz around our heads. Chief among these annoyers were those wax-making demons, the bees of Prosthetics, who every now and then made a fresh assault on our party in the form of an unannounced quiz. But of all the hazards, the ascent of Mount Practical of the Histology chain was the worst. It took its usual toll in a great number of broken limbs, bruises and cuts.

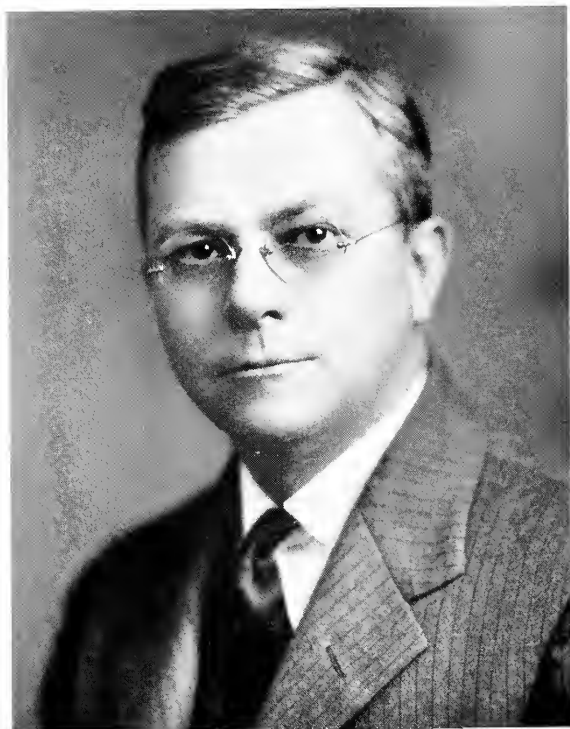

We have many other far more dangerous undertakings in our path. And yet, in the end, the majority of us will scale the heights to enter into a new world, our chosen profession—Dentistry. It is worth it. We will carry on!

HISTORY

As we come to the close of our study of Pharmacy at M. C. V., we feel that it is fitting to look back over the past three years and review our many and varied experiences. Some of them have been happy, some of them we would rather not recall, but all of them have made us better fitted for life and our future in our profession.

Our Freshman year was one of many discoveries for those of us who were not familiar with college life. It was not until Christmas or even later that we found our bearings and settled down to real work. We came through to our Junior year, losing only a few of our fellow students, feeling our importance immensely. However, our first week's work in our Junior session took all of our importance away and left us fairly gasping for breath. Needless to say, that was a year of work.

Now for the ecstasies of being a Senior! As many and as great as these were, they could not withstand the forces of the faculty, and we soon came down to earth and to work having as our goal—graduation.

And now that we have reached our goal, we would remember only those things that have been pleasant in our school life. We could name many of these, but we are especially appreciative of the lasting friendships that have developed and the contact with the faculty we have enjoyed. Looking into the future, we know that new successes and failures will come, but, whatever they be, we shall always bear in mind the motto of our Mortar and Pestle Club, "Pharmacy to the Front."

THE JUNIOR CLASS IN PHARMACY

Junior Class in Pharmacy

HISTORY

Yes, we have a history.

You, dear reader, may have the mistaken idea, that, since our history did not appear in last year's "X-Ray", we have none. We fooled you! We have lots of history!

Therefore, it seems fitting and proper that you should have a brief resume of the happenings since we, the Junior Class, entered into the realms of science last September, a year ago.

Into McGuire Hall on registration day strolled a group of "seekers after knowledge," most of us green from high school and anxious to find out how the deuce they managed to slice the ham so thin in the drug stores. Imagine our surprise when we found there was no course in sandwich making!

The end of the first quarter (and our first report) found many of us wondering—trying to decide whether we should be aviators or shoe-makers. But kindly professors consoled us immensely by reminding us that the first three years in pharmacy were, by far, the hardest, and besides "grades don't mean a whole lot." Some few of our class believed that last statement. (Them? Oh, they're not with us any more.)

That first horrible winter left many of us with the conviction that Sherman, who described war in one word, was all wrong. But, how was he to know? He never was a Freshman in Pharmacy.

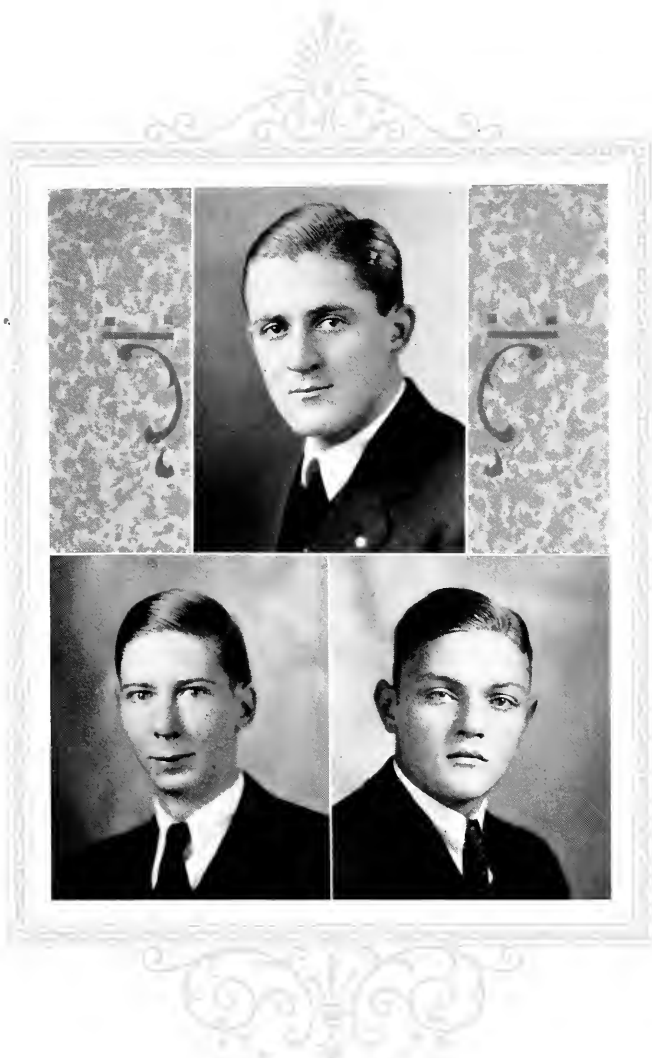

Then came vacation time. Say—did you ever stop to realize just how short a time three months is?

In September we returned. But, Oh! how sadly our ranks were depleted! About a dozen noses were missing on the first count. Before we had gotten thoroughly reacquainted, the faculty started taking all the joy out of life. "In the beginning, scientists created Organic Chemistry. Six centuries did they labor (and had no rest in the seventh) for it was their intention to uphold the now famous war cry, 'They shall not pass.'" How nobly they succeeded! But with characteristic optimism we carry on. Why, we even take it for granted that we are going to pass Quantitative Analysis.

Aside from scholastic consideration, we are an exceptional group—quite versatile too! We have an orchestra which, under the masterly baton of Larry Randall, hopes to bring fame to the School of Pharmacy. We have a basketball team which did—by bringing to us the handsome silver loving cup for the intra-mural basketball championship. I almost forgot, we have one among us who sings "Sadie Green" divinely. Then too, we have a journalist who misquotes the professors and makes his apology in the next issue.

Next year, by the Grace of God and the Faculty, we will be Seniors. Wish us luck, we're going to need it.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS IN PHARMACY

Freshman Class in Pharmacy

HISTORY

September 14, 1931, brought a motley crowd to McGuire Hall; and included in these numbers were fifty-three Freshman Pharmacy students, coming from New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Virginia, and other states. How proud Virginia should be to have these men from sister states to study in her halls of education! Twenty-two came with academic college training—four of them having degrees to their credit.

Assembly of the student body in the college auditorium was an impressive event at which the students were extended a hearty welcome by Dr. Sanger, the Deans of the four schools, and by "Father" Larrick, of the Y. M. C. A. The student reception at Cabaniss Hall proved a most pleasurable occasion on which the students had an opportunity to meet the faculty and their wives.

Smokers, dances, and fraternity pledging have been of much interest to the new men in revealing the social side of the college life at M. C. V.

The class boasts of good athletic material, and literary and musical talent. There is determination on the part of the boys to "stick in there and fight 'em."

Much interest and enthusiasm was displayed in class elections. With Quesenberry, a degree man from William and Mary, as president, there is excellent prospect that this will be the most successful year ever for any Freshman Pharmacy Class of M. C. V.

HARRIETTE PATTESON	Historian

HISTORY

Life to-day is the history of tomorrow. History is a vital, moving thing, a dramatic chain of events infused with the vividness of personality. We ask you to look and read in life the Class of 1932.

Our class had its beginning in September, 1929, a morning when seventeen young women, representing many divergent streams of human entities, became a unit in time, place, desire, and opportunity. With hearts filled with thoughts of home, we became objects of attention to "the powers that be"—the upper classmen. They, with undimmed arder and unrelaxed vigilance, taught us to dance, to sing, and last but not least, to work.

Time wore on; examinations were met and manfully vanquished, and we were crowned with a snowy white cap. One year transformed us into Juniors, a privileged type of person known only to the nursing world. That class who may dictate to the "probs" but still look to the seniors for guidance. Our Senior year was marked by the addition of a black band to our caps, which meant an increased responsibility in our work. Within our number can be found women who have contributed greatly to the athletic, literary and social life of the college.

Since the historian has not chronicled the exact dates and happenings of her classmates, it is hoped that the mention of "Miss Zeigler's Office," "Chandler's Shoe Store," "Cabaniss Hall elevator," and "Operating Room Technique," will bring back fond recollections when the memories of student life are but dim and shadowy.

THE JUNIOR CLASS IN NURSING

Junior Class in Nursing

HISTORY

We, the present Junior Class in Nursing of the Medical College of Virginia, assembled at Cabaniss Hall, Richmond, Va., September 17, 1930.

We were thirty-six in number and although each of us had different ideals, thoughts and manners, we had one interest in common—the learning of the art of caring for the sick.

We were a very colorful group and being a rather large class we soon became a part of the school and took our place in its various activities.

For four months we labored and experienced many disasters together, trying to accommodate ourselves to our new surroundings. By the end of this time several of our group had decided that they were not suited to the profession, but the remaining twenty-six received the reward of their efforts—A Cap and a Bib!

January 17, 1931, we welcomed twelve more girls into our class, making a total of thirty-one.

The next nine months we spent as Freshmen, ever learning that there was still something that we didn't know!

In all of our work we have stuck together. We are a combined class. We love each other and we love our work.

Twenty-six of us have completed two laps of our journey and to-day we stand as Juniors, looking forward to the day when we will be Seniors and wear a black band on our caps and have all the dignity and knowledge that goes with the word Senior.

*Classes may come—
And classes may go,
But may the memory of the Class of '33
Live on forever!*

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL OF NURSING

The Nurse

*Softly she moves from bed to bed,
Easing the pain of the aching head,
While on her face she wears a smile,
Bringing cheer to all, the while.*

*Hour by hour throughout the night,
This lovely woman dressed in white,
Quietly moves through ward and halls,
Watching with care and answering calls.*

*She knows our wishes and every need,
And stories often to us does read.
Patient, untiring, the kindly maid,
Hour by hour the pain has stayed.*

*We see her at life's first breath,
She lingers near at the call of death.
Do we appreciate as we should
This woman in white, so brave and good?*

The Revelers

IX years ago, the organization of the Revelers of the Medical College of Virginia was founded by Doctor "Billy" Southward, to foster the spirit of student social activities, and to take charge of all shows, stunt nights, and college entertainments, as far as possible. The club has been successful and has made rapid progress. All four departments of the Revelers are active this year.

The Girls' Glee Club, organized through the efforts of Miss Frances Zeigler and the co-operation of the student nurses, is directed by Chase Gage, who was largely responsible for the success of the club last year. Every Wednesday evening, Director Gage and his glee club can be heard hard at work in the recreation room of Cabiniss Hall. They add much to the student programs.

The Male Quartet was a little late starting, but after "Joe" Meadows accepted the leadership, real progress was made. We have heard them sing at the student assemblies and Y. M. C. A. functions. They have some surprises in store for Stunt Night.

Milton A. Clark directs the orchestra this year. At Cabiniss Hall and at the Jefferson, we have danced to their music. They are indispensable at the assemblies. These musicians are rehearsing several new and keen terpsichorean tunes for their next appearance.

"Bob" Jordan is directing the Dramatic Club. He promises to present "Marrying Anne" soon after mid-term examinations, and his club is considering "The Tinker" and "The Arrival of Kitty" to follow the presentation of "Marrying Anne." We well remember "Take My Advice" of last year, and "Adam and Eva" of the year before.

The Revelers had a record year in 1930-'31 under the excellent direction of Jack Miller as president. This year President Hugh Wilkerson promises an interesting and complete program which we feel will be an even greater success.

We desire to express our appreciation to Miss Frances Zeigler for her interest and help; to the Faculty Advisory Committee; to Dr. Greer Baughman, Dr. W. T. Sanger, and Dr. W. G. Crockett, for their encouragement and support; and to Jonah Larrick for his enthusiastic interest and aid at all times.

This year finds the Mortar and Pestle Club continuing the progressive stride started last year. It has done much to improve both the educational and practical side of pharmacy through its interesting programs. Several capable speakers have spoken to the members of the Pharmacy School this year. These men were obtained and sponsored by the Club as a part of their progressive program.

IF

(With apologies to Rudyard)

*If you can stick to work when those about you,
Are matching pennies, nickels, even dimes,
When someone sneaks up from behind to clout you,
Not once a day, but many, many times;
If you can keep on cutting and dissecting
Amongst the nerves and muscles of a stiff
When all the others seem to be neglecting
Their work, (Remember, this is only "if").*

*If you can clean, and boil, and test for acid,
Or weigh things to the thousandth of a gram,
And keep your mind and thoughts serene and placid,
When no one near you seems to care a damn;
While someone on your left is busy trying
To square himself with someone on your right,
And spends the whole "lab" period denying
He'd had the other's girl out—just last night.*

*If you can keep your mind on Chick embryos,
And keep your eye glued to a microscope,
When two birds near you are discussing Ro's
Chrysler's—each one full of motor dope;
If you can tell, without a bit of guessing,
A liver from a kidney, or a spleen,
While the ladies argue why "us girls" are dressing,
In blue, or red, or white, instead of green.*

*If you can bear to spend all night preparing
To stand a quiz, and study 'till you're drunk,
And smile, as if you weren't even caring
When you, like many others, do a flunk;
If you can learn the "how's" and "why's" and "wherefore's,"
And store them all away within your brain,
And not confuse them with the "not's" and the "therefore's"
And still keep happy, healthy, whole, and sane.*

*If you can do all this, and not go crazy,
And not lose all the sense you've ever had,
If you can learn to rest, and not get lazy,
And learn to fail at times, and not get sad.
If you can keep on working at this same rate,
And work—and work—and then come back for more,
Some day they'll let you tack a nice brass "name plate,"
With "so and so," M.D., upon your door.*

FRATERNITIES

The Frat Pin

*He wore his college frat pin
Just southward of his heart,
And vowed that from that resting place
That pin should ne'er depart.*

*The passing years still found him
E'er firm and standing pat;
Wearing his college frat pin
In honor of his frat.*

*One day two eyes confused him,
His high resolve took chase,
A soft voice coaxed the frat pin
From its abiding place.*

*They're in a little bungalow
With welcome on the mat,
And frat pin? — fastens baby clothes
In honor of his frat.*

Gastric Lavage

*There are poisons folks take
By intent or mistake
And their number is exceedingly large;
But their treatment is this—
And you can't go amiss—
Just give 'em a Gastric Lavage.*

*If you're despondent and broke,
And you've taken some dope,
An' then find that it's just a mirage;
If you produce enough dough,
The doctor will know,
An' order a Gastric Lavage.*

*There are other antidotes, too,
For the things that men do,
When despondency's on the rampage;
But take it from me:
Let those other things be!
There's nothing like Gastric Lavage.*

*It's a wonderful cure,
And recovery is sure,
From a pill to a sea-going barge;
An' from the things that come back,
One's impressed by the fact,
There's nothing like Gastric Lavage.*

*If you ever want to get
At the things folks have "et,"
An' be fair to the public at large,
Remember the rule,
You once learned at school:
"The treatment is Gastric Lavage."*

ATHLETICS

LEE B. TODD

President Athletic Association

DR. WILLIAM H. PARKER

Graduate Manager of Athletics

Since 1924, Dr. Parker has been graduate manager of athletics here at the Medical College of Virginia and the school is fortunate, indeed, to have a man of such calibre officiating in this capacity. He is especially well trained in this kind of work through his wide experience and the athletics here have shown a decided improvement under his capable direction.

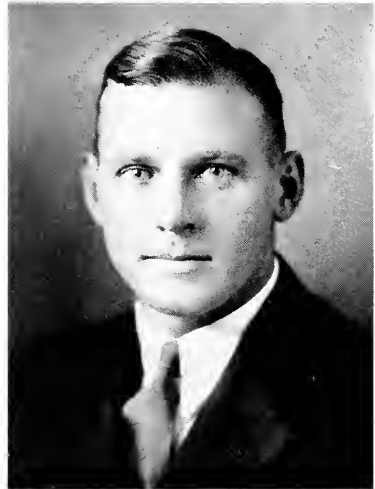

Dr. Parker plays a very important part in baseball roles in the city. We are glad to have such a man as an alumnus of our school.

JOHN B. TODD

Coach

Coach Todd came to this institution in the capacity of a student in 1928, but assumed also the responsibility of coaching the athletic teams. He coached at William and Mary College, where he was a noted athlete, being a four-letter man, prior to coming here.

He is to be commended upon his successful work as mentor at this school. His teams have shown the effects of good coaching and have been very successful in their games.

Varsity Basketball

The basketball season was very successful for the Medicos in 1931 and with the return of practically all the Varsity lettermen, plus many recruits from the freshman class, the season this year should be very good. The loss of Lee Todd and Byrd will be keenly felt, but Coach John Todd has a "knack" of making good players better and he is prepared to replace these men with other men of almost equal ability.

The team has shown unusual promise up to the time of going to press. They lost to the University of Richmond by a score that indicates that the Medicos are never out of the game until the last whistle has blown; and a week later the Medicos pulled another surprise when they won over Randolph Macon College, last year's State Champions, by the score of 29 to 27. This was one of the best and most exciting games ever witnessed on the home court.

The team is composed of S. Banks and Boote, guards; Oliver and Boff, centers; and A. Banks and Montgomery, forwards. Among the reserves that are frequently called on, and who seldom fail, are: Cassagrande, Meadows, Gollman, Baughn, Francis, Lett, and Garner. The captain is A. Banks. The team has a good schedule arranged by their able manager, C. W. Paganelli.

Intramural Basketball

The champions this year truly deserved their victory. They were well trained and had shown excellent promise the preceding year, at which time they failed to win the championship by a narrow margin. The Junior-Senior Pharmacists deserved to win.

The final night of the tournament found the champions with no opponent, due to the fact that they had come through the entire season without the loss of a single game. The team was presented with the championship cup by Dr. W. G. Crockett of the Pharmacy School Faculty and everyone enjoyed his unique presentation. After the presentation, a most enjoyable party was given by the M. C. V. Athletic Association. Later, Dean Rudd honored the team with a banquet at his home.

The team was composed of A. Bank and Pulliam, forwards; Rea, center; S. Banks, Hook and Ague, guards; Chisirazzi and Edmiston, substitutes. A. Banks was captain.

The Sawbonettes

The basketball season for the Sawbonettes began about the first of December with a large squad reporting for practice. The team lost three members by graduation and due to illness, two of the star players of last year's team have been unable to join the squad so far. We hope that they will be in good physical trim and able to report before the season has progressed much further. These two players are M. Skinner and Keever. To offset the loss of these players will be a hard job, but from all appearances there are some very good prospects in the Freshman class and the Medicorettes are due for another very successful season.

The trip to Blackstone this year was not so successful as in other years, but no one has indicated that they did not have a most enjoyable time. This is one of the best trips taken by the team and may they have just a little more luck on the next one.

The team is composed of Captain Lacy, Manager Padbury, Sharpe, Compton, Bush, and Vaughn with several most capable reserves, including Henna, Puffenberger, Werner, Woods and Boatwright.

Baseball

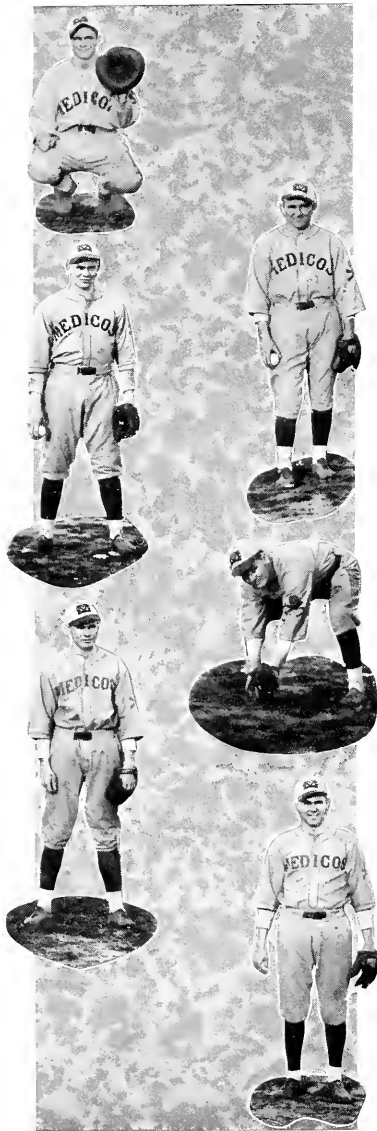

The Baseball Season of 1931 found the Medicos with a good assortment of players and prospects looked good. As the season "wore on," sore arms, strawberries and other troubles began to develop, the most serious of which was the inability of Pitcher Joe Meadows to get his arm into condition and the lack of a catcher. Coach Todd soon had a catcher, Montgomery being shifted from an infield position. Pulliam, the only pitcher in condition, made a wonderful effort but inexperience, coupled, at times, with a lack of control, caused his downfall in several instances.

The team had its usual number of good hitters and they counted in practically every game. The losses sustained by the team may be truly said to be due the fact that — not that they were not good but their opponents were a little better.

With the exception of Knight, McCain, McCall and DeBusk, the entire team will be available this spring and should the Freshman class come through, the season should be a most successful one.

Baseball

The 1931 Baseball Team, as far as games placed in the winning column was not impressive. In almost every game of the entire season, the Medicos scored enough runs to win the average baseball game, but as often was the case, they could not prevent their opponents from scoring at least one more run to take the game away from the home team. In many instances this winning run came in the ninth inning. The one thing that seemed to be lacking was a good pitching staff.

It is supposed that everyone understands what is meant by "handicaps." They are often given to golfers who cannot shoot below one hundred and often given to horses that have never broken a tape, but the writer wonders how many really understand the different handicaps that Coach John Todd labors under when he attempts to put a winning team on the field. There are many ex-college stars in school who refuse to go out and attempt to make the team. There is still a greater handicap in the "time allowance." Going to school at M. C. V. is not an easy job in any phase and it is late in the afternoon when classes allow those who love the game to join in. The season is short for no practice can be arranged indoors; therefore, we think John Todd has done exceptionally well in maintaining even a fair average of "wins" over those competitors who make a major sport of baseball.

"Monty" Montgomery began his baseball career as a third baseman for Randolph-Macon, but was moulded into a catcher to fill the shoes of Humphrey. "Monty" will be with us again this year.

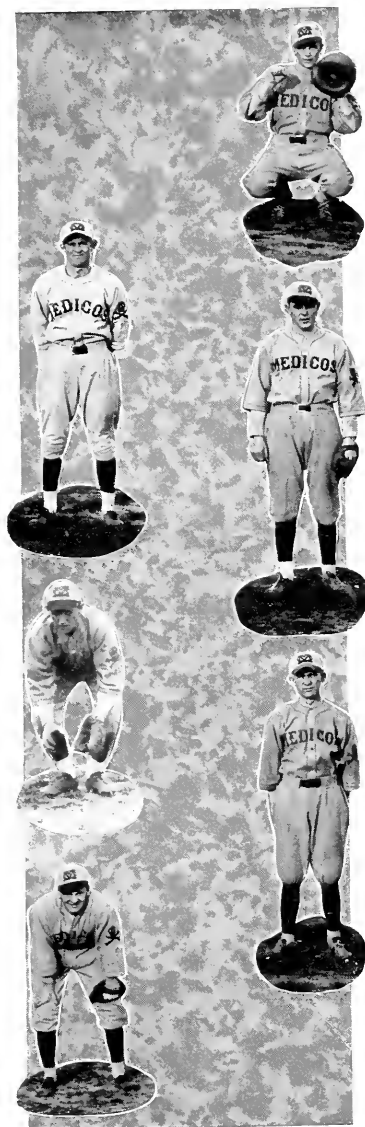

Meadows was the outstanding pitcher until his arm was injured and Pulliam took his place and did exceptionally well for one who has had such a small amount of experience. Both of these men will be on hand for work this spring.

Garner and Gates, together with Johnson, composed the hard-hitting outfield. Garner gathered more home runs than any two other members of the team combined.

Siersema very ably filled Marsh McCall's shoes on third base, while June McCall cavorted around first base in his own inimitable fashion. We regret that he will not be here this year.

DeBusk, our shortstop, and McCain, the second baseman, were both lost by graduation and their loss will be keenly felt.

With the advent of several good players from the freshman class, the team should be stronger and have a much more successful season than last year.

Tennis

The Tennis Team had a very good season, winning one-half their matches, although they played without the services of E. H. Waugh, one of the star Medico netmen. The College Tennis Tournament, carried on in the fall of 1930, placed the netmen in the following order: Lawson, Davis, Garrard, Wells, Lapsley and Clark. Lawson was captain and manager.

The prospects for this year look very good and an excellent schedule has been arranged. With these men of experience, the percentage in the winning column should be greatly increased.

Golf

The 1931 Golf Season was enjoyed by all concerned, although the season was not a successful one. The season started with bright prospects, the Medicos defeating the Dental Faculty, 8-4. The first defeat came over the Swannanoa Club course by the University of Virginia. Playing at the Hermitage Country Club, Washington and Lee took the next match by a small margin. Bill Tarrant, playing No. 1 for the Medicos defeated their No. 1 man for $2\frac{1}{2}$ points. Duke, who were runners-up in the Southern Conference, gave the Medical College the best exhibition of Golf, defeating them by a 14-4 margin.

In the tournament, Bill Tarrant won over Bob Croom in the finals and was presented with a silver loving cup symbolic of this year's collegiate championship.

The other members of the squad this spring will be: Croom, Reed, Showalter, Traynham and Heartwell, with several others to be picked from a group of thirty-two men who answered the call in the fall.

The schedule will include those met last year with several new additions.

Kerlin was the only man lost by graduation.

In the Marshal Field Annex, Chicago, there are 300 Dentists and 450 American Dental Cabinets. The Pittsfield Bldg. has 225 Dentists and 300 American Cabinets.

Our goods may be purchased from the dealer in combination with chair, engine, etc., and in fact a complete outfit, on one contract, on easy monthly payments.

We will exhibit our cabinets in your city and hope to see every member of the senior class.

PRESCRIPTION FOR MEDICAL MEN

Time and skill constitute the major portion of a medical man's capital.

As this capital is depleted by the passing of years, it must be replaced, through some form of savings, if the good doctor would retire and spend his declining years in comfort.

By no method can such replacement of earning power be so easily and safely effected as through our various Retirement Income plans.

Doctor: "My dear fellow, if you knew what an interesting case yours was and how strongly I was tempted to let it go to a post-mortem, you wouldn't grumble at a bill three times the size of this."

Orderly: "Are you the one that's been ringing the bell for the last half hour?"

Patient: "Yes, confound it, I—"

Orderly: "Well, cut it out; do you want to wake the night nurse?"

Made from wheat flour, wheat bran, malted barley and bicarbonate of potassium — consisting essentially of maltose, dextrins, proteins and mineral salts.

Mellin's Food
A Milk Modifier

Mellin's Food occupies an unique position in regard to the long period of its existence and the unequalled opportunity thus afforded for critical examination of all claims made relative to its efficiency as a means to assist physicians in the modification of milk for infant feeding.

Mellin's Food is also distinctive as the first preparation of maltose and dextrins offered to physicians in serviceable form, and the fact that maltose and dextrins are widely employed in infant feeding shows the stability of Mellin's Food and again emphasizes its distinction.

Mellin's Food is not in the experimental stage for it is a product with a long record of successful use supported by the real evidence of actual experience and upon this solid foundation—

Mellin's Food

We urge your selection of Mellin's Food as your first choice. If samples are helpful we will be glad to send a supply upon request together with formulas and other literature arranged for your convenience.
